What is heat?

Matter is made of particles and they have energy that is always moving. Heat is the flow of this energy from one material to another. Heat moves from warmer objects to cooler objects. Remember, the more energy an object has, the faster its particles move.

Heat always flows from the object with more energy to the object with less energy. If you rub your hands together for 15 seconds, they will feel warm. You create friction by rubbing your hands together and it turned to heat energy.

Heat is NOT the same as temperature. Temperature is a measure of how hot or cold something is. And that is measured using a _____.

*The major source of heat is the Sun. Another source of heat on Earth is fossil fuels – they were formed millions of years ago from the remains of ancient plants and animals. Fossil fuels provide energy – examples include: coal, oil, and natural gas. They are nonrenewable!
